DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Naganawa (#4,183,578) in view of Posey (#3,635,526).

Naganawa shows a chair comprising a frame having a pair of laterally spaced tubular supports (2) in a generally inverted U-shaped configuration, a seat panel (26) in a generally horizontal plane between the supports, and a back panel. However, each of the tubular supports does not have a side panel. Posey teaches a pair of side supports (34) each having a side panel system comprising lower panel (30) and upper panel (28,20). The upper panel has an interior wall (28) and an exterior wall (20) with a periphery there between. The exterior wall has a continuous recess (22). The panels include an elongated extension extending downwardly from the entire length of the interior wall and a shortened extension extending upwardly from the interior wall. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ Posey's side supports to the tubular supports of Naganawa's chair, in order to provide side panels to shield the sides of the occupant.

With claim 3, a supplemental tube (45) is spaced laterally from each leading section of the frame.

With claim 5, the method of forming the device is not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself. Therefore, this limitation has not been given patentable weight.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 1 is allowed.

Remarks

The examiner has reviewed and considered the applicant's comments in the Amendment, filed on August 18, 2005. Based on a reconsideration of the claims, the examiner has decided that the amendment to claim 2 (with the allowable subject matter in now canceled claim 4) does not place claim 2 in condition for allowance. Accordingly, this Office action is considered to be Non-final.
